MEMORIES

To some of you, this book is the first look at college life. To others, it is only the completion of another school year. But to some, it will be the last and closing chapter to a life at college never to be forgotten.

As we depart from college and go out into a new life, there will always be that pause of unforgotten memories at Colorado State College. These memories are a past, living still in heart and mind; although these events may never occur again, they will live forever to be recalled in years to come—to be reconsidered and re-evaluated in price paid and values received.

This book is filled with memories of the past—a sign and hope of the future through its meaning of an educational system free and fruitful. As we look through this book, we will find that it is a symbol of our life at CSC—the hopes, dreams and disappointments we shared—and will remember many years from now when we leaf through the worn pages of the 1959 Cache La Poudre. We will remember these treasures of memories—the instructors with their sticks and books, our beanies and "obligations" during freshman week, the thrills of formal dances and the fun that was shared in the various organizations. These are only a few of the memories we will treasure as our hair shows signs of graying and our lives begin to wane.

And so to you, the reader of this book, we hand you this memory of your college life. We ask that you treasure your memories and look back on your college years as a source of inspiration. This in itself will be our reward.

DEDICATED

to

Dr. Sam Gates

Dr. Gates, Bart, Kristie, and Mrs. Gates

Dr. Sam G. Gates, dean of the Graduate Division and professor of education at Colorado State College since 1956, has had an outstanding career as a public school teacher and as a college faculty member and administrator. From 1949 until he was named to direct the college's graduate division he was director of the college's laboratory school.

Dr. Gates became a member of the faculty of the college in January, 1946, as an instructor in social studies. Dr. Gates received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Colorado State College in December, 1945, shortly after he returned from war service with the Air Force. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon him by Colorado State College of Education in June, 1947. The degree of Doctor of Education was conferred upon him by Stanford University in 1953.

Dr. Gates holds membership in Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi education fraternities, Phi Alpha Theta, history fraternity, and Lambda Sigma Tau, science fraternity. He is a member of the American Legion, the Schoolmaster's Club, Colorado Education Association, National Education Association, and other professional organizations. In 1957 he was elected a director of the Colorado Education Association.

A day's work sometimes doesn't even end at the office.

Guns are a favorite hobby of Dr. Gates.

Dr. William R. Ross, President

Dr. and Mrs. Ross enjoy looking over an old European music manuscript.

Dr. Ross and the phonograph are a good team when it comes to classical music.

Since Dr. Ross was appointed president of Colorado State College in January, 1948, he has been a favorite among both the students and the faculty. He always finds time in his busy schedule to personally consider student problems and to work for satisfactory solutions to problems that face CSC. Dr. Ross is proud of the increased enrollment and is constantly working for improvements on the facilities afforded the students. Whether it be in his office in Frasier or at home, Dr. Ross welcomes the opportunity to talk with students. He accepts invitations to address campus groups whenever he is called upon to do so.

Many hours are spent by Dr. Ross working in his den, where he has a large collection of rocks and arrowheads.

Student Council

Activities, elections, budgets and appropriations—just a few of the many responsibilities of Student Council this past year. Under the leadership of President Cliff Wagoner, the Council, composed of the vice president, secretary, class presidents, and ten representatives-at-large, and with the able assistance of Erv Spahr, business manager, held the purse strings of the Associated Students' $150,000 budget, planned such campus activities as the Christmas Ball, the Kingston Trio Concert, Sir Leslie Monroe, speaker from the United Nations, and the University of London International Debate Team. Discussions on campus issues marked each Tuesday night meeting, regardless of whether it was held in Panel Lounge, a Greek house, dorm, or Dr. Shaw's home.

President and Staff

Fellow Students,

Serving the needs of the Associated Students as President this past year has been a very enjoyable and rewarding experience for me.

The cooperation and enthusiasm of our Student Council and the student body as a whole deserves many thanks. I am very proud to have had the opportunity to work with such wonderful people as the students and faculty of our college.

I hope this year will be as memorable for all of you as you have made it for me.

Sincerely,

The scramble for material.

Those small but important words . . . "it's done" . . . are a welcome sight by both editor and staff, as the final sections of the book leave for the printers. Now, the suspense as to "what will the finished book look like" appears more prevalent as the staff awaits the first finished copy. Throughout the year members of the annual staff work, study, plan and organize to achieve one goal —production of a high quality yearbook. This year the Cache La Poudre staff was really on the road of progress from having to increase the number of pages, using a new art style, to moving into a new office. Deadlines . . . late hours, pictures completed . . . deadlines, these are the thoughts that occupy a yearbook editor's mind as work begins and continues throughout the year. Each staff member has done more than his share to make this year's annual a success. Rubber cement, cutting, pasting and the battle of eyes vs. ruler as to which is measuring correctly are only a few of the problems that confront the staff while working day and night to meet the deadlines and staring them constantly in the face are those deadlines and the editor. The successful publishing of an annual requires much more than just a good editor or business manager. To the many people who helped with art, layout, pasting, and typing copy, credit also must be given for making this yearbook a good one. With remarkable versatility they worked at any time, at anything, putting their own private lives aside until its completion. However, those long hours, editor's barking and mistakes are forgotten when the staff takes a sneak preview of the annual . . . the book which they helped to make.

The Cache La Poudre assembly line.

It has been a bad year for us all.

Mirror Staff

EDITOR
Doren Yount

Participating actively in this year's game of Student Union Shuffle, the Mirror office, staff, and equipment accomplished a mass move to new quarters on the east side of Panel Lounge. The busy life in the new diggings went on just as it had in the old, a daily round of running down, writing, and re-writing news stories, gleaning items of interest from exchange papers, and going into spasms of glee over the copy for the next issue's column of cultural criticism. There were a few snarls about the new office to be untied; the wide, airy windows, so pleasant in the spring, made the place resemble a man-made ice grotto in the winter, and the quintessential huge bulletin board was hung upside down, so that the "Time for a Coffee Break" sign was left standing on its head. But the paper came out every Friday all the same. Problems of too much or too little copy were surmounted as the layout editor played her version of journalistic Musical Chairs, cutting, fitting, and scrobbling the stories into a logical progression on each page. When the pages left the office each Thursday, to be printed, the staff had some free time to devote to that popular athletic pastime, throwing exchange papers over the partition into the Totem office. Idle moments were few, though, and the mad race with the deadline started all over again each Monday.

EDITOR

The free-wheeling excitement, the uninhibited enthusiasm, the zest for spur-of-the-moment living of the Roaring Twenties will probably never be duplicated in all of Americana. For these were stupendous times—peculiarly stupendous, to be sure—that had a spirit as well as a sound so very much all their own. To the spirit of those times, the editor and his staff have taken the CSC students back to those fabulous days as "The Roaring 20's Edition" of the Totem appeared on campus. The busy life of this staff was on the go from selling advertising, rewriting copy, and drawing cartoons which was only a small part of this magazine. Miss Dee Ann Brown was Totem's "Queen of the Month." Idle moments were few as the entire staff worked diligently with enthusiasm which can be seen by those who purchased "The Totem."

(2nd. issue)

It was a successful touchdown as the second issue of "The Totem" made its debut on the CSC campus. The defensive team of creative journalists, artists and photographers got together in a huddle every Tuesday evening and laid out the magazine, carrying out a theme on sports. As the team progressed through the quarter, they ran into trouble one time and success another which finally exploded into a field day of excitement as students were hurrying to purchase this magazine.

So you think you have a knack with your big sister's kids and that's the reason you decided to become an elementary education major! It's a good idea but, oh, what you have to go through. First you must complete a series of beloved courses simply entitled—Ed. To benefit the fullest you will then proceed to write an observation or two, a paper or ten, and take many tests. You will come from the Ed. department, head crammed full of practical suggestions and scared to death.

Six quarters of PE are required of every student attending CSC, but don't bemoan this fact for there are many ways you can complete this requirement. If you're the outdoor type tennis, softball, baseball, football, or soccer may interest you. If you'd rather be out of the elements there is always a place for you in the PE dance program. The music majors are those known in CSC circles as scholars who attend class all day every day. Some of the combinations of flute, trumpet, and trombone coming from the practice rooms sound a little peculiar; but those long hours of blowing do pay off in a professor's studio later in the week. Not only are these students talented musicians, but they have mastered a feat not comman to the average C-Stater; they know where they're going and how to get there through those innumerable corridors of Frasier!

Strange that he should feel so deflated, when only a short time ago he had been sitting on top of the world. This was the day for which he had waited so long. This was the day he had expected to feel like a million dollars . . . and he had, all during the commencement ceremony. But now he felt as though someone had punctured his balloon of joy. He wondered what had become of his self confidence, of his pride in his accomplishment. He felt only a fleeting sadness at leaving this school which had made up his life for the past four years., at leaving the people who had become his best friends. He was apprehensive at the thought of being cast adrift from the security he had known so long . . . at the thought of setting forth on his own. But the year was over; he must look ahead to the future. With a feeling of sadness, but also one of challenge, he walked forward to receive his diploma.

Junior Class

This halo didn't come from studying—or did it?

Their year was much like any other. It was a multitude of things . . . the haze of autumn . . . excitement of football . . . the weight of winter . . . nature dying.

Learning . . . forgetting . . . testing . . . students to scholars . . . finals . . . recovery . . . the basketball madness . . . spring activities . . . and now the year was over. As they stood looking down the halls of CSC they recalled some of their experiences in the year 1958-59—the games, dances, extracurricular activities, and the quest for knowledge. It has been a good year for both of them.

The buildings were dark and quiet now. Familiar sounds of happy voices in Bru, basketball in the gym, and bells ringing for classes had all been replaced by a strange silence that was to last through the summer.

He took her hand and they walked from the building into the fresh spring air.

Sophomore Class

Dialing the number of the last name on his list, he could hardly believe that everyone on his committee was coming to the meeting. At last they would be able to complete their plans for the Sophomore Ball. Somehow it seemed that no one was interested in class affairs, but perhaps it was only because he had never served as general chairman before.

How far the class had come since those first uncertain days of last year. It was a good class and had done much to develop strong leaders and eager helpers. But even so during his two years at CSC he had seen many of his friends fall by the wayside. But then he realized that for each one there was a new student to take his place.

The plans for the Ball were now in the final stages. The only problem was seeing that the committee chairmen carried out their duties.

Drowning one's sorrows in a cup of coffee or just relaxing with the gang, Bru Inn is a frequent stopping place for C.S.C. sophomores.

President, Fred Cuckow; Vice-President, Clint Summerfield; Secretary, Donna Jo Cole; and Treasurer, Eleanor Pifer; are sophomore class officers from left to right above.

Freshman Class

She stood in the half gloom of the gym and waited for her signal to walk to the throne. Her hands were cold and clammy. She tried to remember whose idea it had been to nominate her for Freshman Ball Queen. In some ways this was like the first day of school: the uncertainty, the fright, the great sense of accomplishment that seemed to be with her tonight. But certainly she was much more secure and mature than she had been during those first beanie bearing days at CSC. Her thoughts came thick and fast . . . leaving home . . . new friends . . . but most of all this wonderful honor that her classmates had given her. Someone was patting her shoulder and she heard the opening fanfare, her cue to walk out on the floor. Taking one last deep breath, she smoothed her hair, wiped her eyes, and stepped out into the spotlight.

Elected during homecoming festivities and reigning over the Hellzabruin Torch Parade were Torch King, Tom Wills, and Torch Queen, Pat Brennan.

MEMORIES

Oh, for these first days again . . .

strolling across the friendliest spot on campus . .

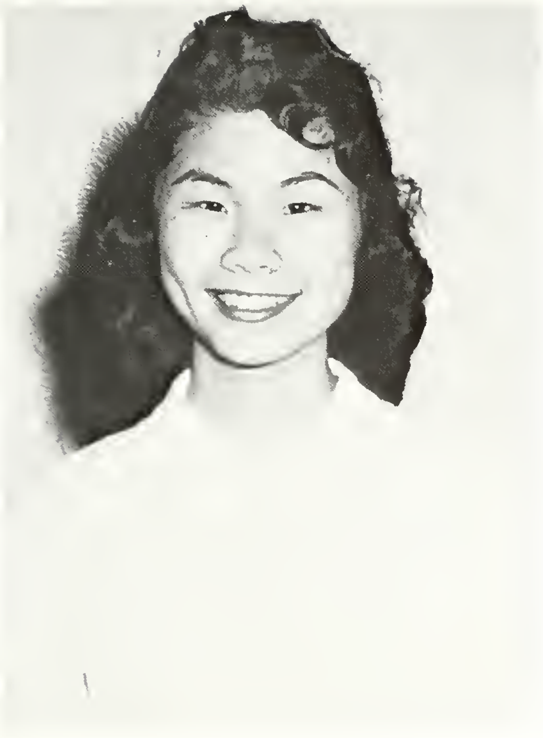
as rust-green rain of leaves slowly covers all . . .

as fall makes its appearance.

As winter appears with its frosty whiteness . . .

followed by the greens of spring . . .

comes that closing chapter . . .
with a completed sense of accomplishment.



Arriving for the first time on campus and having no experience with annual work, Marian Miura has proven herself a big asset in the making of this year's staff. Marian offered her services right at the start and the odd jobs were given to her from cutting and posting to running errands. She worked all hours with the quietness and pleasant smile characteristic of her. Marian served as Organization Editor for this year's annual. We, the Cache La Poudre, wish the very best of luck and extend our congratulations for her part with us this year.

Marian Miura

Outstanding Staff Members

Fran Cuckow

Try to imagine a Cache la Poudre with no pictures. This is what Fran Cuckow would like to see after one of his hectic days behind the camera. Fran was active last year as chief photographer of the Mirror, and he has been invaluable to the Cache La Poudre Staff this year. Known best by staff members as the "bearded bulb flasher," Fran is always ready with his Brownie Hawkeye to take any and all pictures required by the editor. Besides his job with the annual, Fran is very active in Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and in Pi Kappa Delta, honorary fraternity. The 1959 staff would at this time like to thank Fran Cuckow for all his fine work and cooperation and we wish him the very best of luck in the future.

Associated Women Students' Council

Every woman student is a member of A.W.S. This large organization promotes loyalty, cooperation, and interest among the women students on campus. Their activities committee, headed by the vice-president, plans pepper-uppers for some of our traditional activities. Among these are the Big Sister Program, Women's Freshman Tea, Fashion Show, Christmas Party, Miss C.S.C. contest, and the Senior Ceremonial.

Choral-Aires

The CHORAL-AIRES were organized in 1954 from the best ensemble and solo singers at Colorado State College. Membership includes 16 women and 16 men plus an accompanist. Exceptional vocal talent is the main requirement for membership in the CHORAL-AIRES, students need not be majoring in music. The group has made professional recordings, has appeared on radio and television and has made countless public appearances . . . including a tour of Korea and Japan. The repertoire of the CHORAL-AIRES includes numbers from the 16th century to the present day; sacred, secular, opera, operetta, ballad, classical, and pop tunes. CHORAL-AIRES believe that singing should be fun and enjoyment for both the performers and the audience, and the repertoire is designed with that in mind.

The Concert Band

WAYMAN E. WALKER, Director

The Concert Band is under the direction of Wayman E. Walker and the assistant director is James Miller. It is composed of 93 college students.

This hard-working organization spends many hours in practice and rehearsals in order to bring inspiring music to our campus throughout the year.

One of the highlights of the year is when the band makes an annual tour through parts of the state.

Pride of the Rockies

The "Pride of the Rockies" 130-piece marching band is always ready to perform during the half-time of football games. Whether it be music for a concert, cheers for a football game or the Alma Mater song for basketball games, the music department is right on hand.

I·R·C

Students representing schools throughout northeastern Colorado attend the model U.N. Assembly sponsored by I.R.C.

In its third year of existence here, International Relations Club boasts one of the largest memberships of any organization on campus. The panel lounge was full to overflowing with world-minded people every Tuesday afternoon, as speakers and movies presented thought-provoking ideas. One of the highlights of the season is I. R. C. sponsoring the model United Nations Assembly. Each spring, students from various high schools around the Greeley area arrive on the CSC campus to participate in this assembly. The entire procedures are run exactly like the UN in New York City only on model form. Each school is assigned a particular country ahead of time in order that they may compile information and plan their procedures on the various topics to be discussed. This affair is not only a highlight of I.R.C. but for the entire CSC campus.

Flags of the nations fly before each I.R.C. meeting

FALL AC

TIVITIES

Freshman Week

Freshmen make their debut on campus.

Stumbling through the confusion of Freshman Week were several hundred wide-eyed innocents of the class of '62 as they had their first dazed look at CSC. Trying to keep bright, intelligent looks on their faces, they found that they were expected to fall on them instead, in front of Totem Teddy. Initiated into the ritual of the Lowly Frosh, the infants quickly learned to assume the proper thumb-to-beanie position at the call of "Button Frosh." The resounding reply "Beat Western State" was a familiar sound on campus as were large "C's" on the foreheads of "forgetful" Frosh a familiar sight.

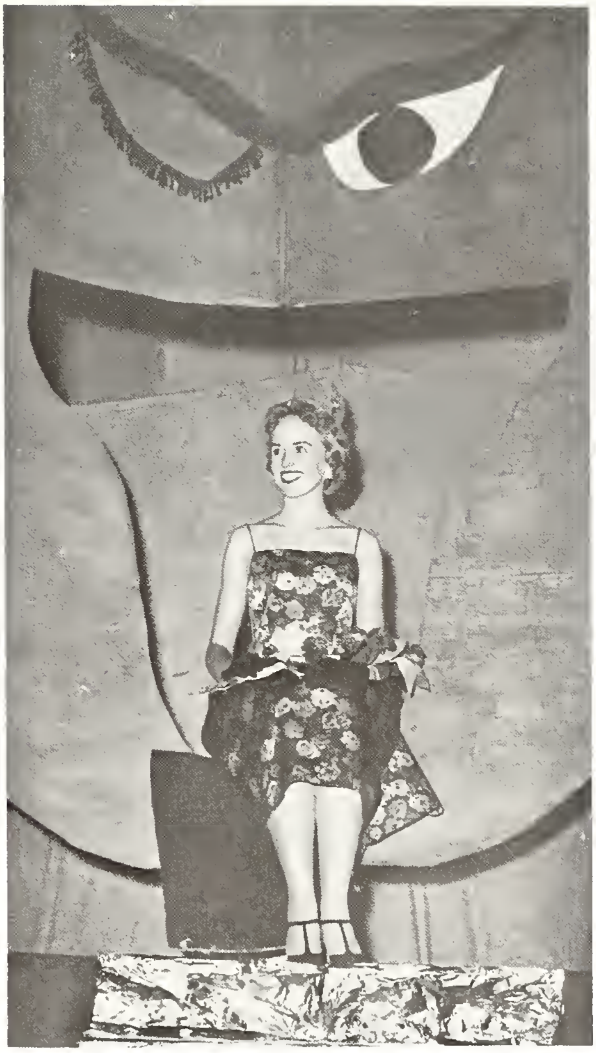
Outnumbering everyone, they managed to stay alive through a week of matriculation tests, hazing, getting settled in the dorms, and registration (ah, the joys of registration). Some of them are still around, which speaks well for their stamina.

The line for integration.

We've run and walked but now we can sit.

Sophomore Ball

"Stomping" among flames and an effigy of Satan, sophomores and their guests could almost feel the heat of Hades. Everyone certainly had a "Hell of a good time" at the "Hell of a good dance" sponsored by a "Hell of a good class." Pretty Karma Dobesh reigned as queen from her throne in Satan's mouth.



The devil's own Lola, Karma Dobesh, reigns over the Sophomore Ball.

Queen Karma and her escort.

Many students participated to make this an eventful evening.

All-Greek Week

Greeks in various colored blazers and crew hats added to the Fall scene as they gathered in multitudes during the month of October for a day of zany activities, from turtle races to a hula hoop contest. Gathering at Garden Theatre, everybody from Alpha to Omega stuffed themselves at the barbecue. That evening, slicked-up Greeks climaxed their week with an All-Greek Dance in the ballroom.

I'll take Hard Back in the fifth.

Garters sure are getting larger nowadays.

Hope nobody loses anything.

Whoops! . . . Lost my pants.

Hellzabruin

Come wiz me to zee Casbah:

From a flirtatious chorus line to a rip-snorting interpretation of an opera, this year's Hellzabruin was greatly received by an admiring audience. Versatile performers presented all the fun and laughter of a first class variety show. The presentation of Pat Kasper as Homecoming Queen was received with cheers from the crowd.

Homecoming

Going along with the theme, "Children's Stories," campus houses and floats were decorated with favorite storybook characters. Undergrad and returning alums braved the cold for a record attendance at the game against Colorado Mines. In the evening, dance-goers danced to two different orchestras on two dance floors, decorated according to the theme, "Rhythm and Rhyme."

Football

CSC opened the 1958 football season in San Luis Obispo, California, to play California Poly. The team was able to fly round trip for this event. Coming back the CSC Bears had their first home game with Western State. Things really were rolling for this first game of the RMC. The Bears traveled to Oklahoma, New Mexico and Idaho to fulfill an eventful football season. Homecoming provided another thrilling contest as we were host to Colorado Mines.

WINTER

ACTIVITIES

Snyder Snowball

Outdoing themselves this year, the women of Snyder presented one of the most enjoyable dances of the year, "Illusions in Ice." Students danced in a ballroom transformed into an icy wonderland of stalactites and stalagmites. Highlight of this gala event was the selection of Judy Bawe to reign as queen of the evening.

A royal cloak for royal shoulders.

Snyder lovelies.

"We could have danced all night."

End of a reign . . . Beginning of another.

Military Ball

Beneath a huge parachute of blue and white, sparkling Sally Cisney was crowned queen of the 1959 Military Ball. The long hours of drills and classes were forgotten as the ROTC'ers, handsome in their Air Force blues, waltzed their lovely ladies to the music of Dean Bushnell in a dreamy "wild blue yonder" setting.

I crown thee . . .

Mmmmmm!

Blue Key Sweetheart Ball

Cupid's choice.

Who, me??

Blue Key members served as cupids to the happy crowd at the annual Blue Key Sweetheart Ball, appropriately held on Valentine's Day. A hushed audience waited in suspense as Blue Key members made their rounds tapping new members and Sweetheart candidates. Chosen to reign as Blue Key Sweetheart was lovely Mary Camblin.

Blue Key royalty.

For outstanding service to the school, Pete Jones is tapped for Blue Key.

Having been led to the front, Ken McGranahan is accepted into Blue Key.

Blue Key Tapping

"Go forth and tap wisely," was the order as Blue Key members made their way among C-Staters at the Blue Key Sweetheart Ball tapping new members and Sweetheart candidates. Tapped into membership were Ken McGranahan, Pete Jones, Doren Yaunt, and Dr. Allan R. Elliot (honorary membership). Tapped as candidates for Blue Key Sweetheart were Mary Camblin, Horriet Brock, Lynn Hoyt, Betty Staver, and Pat Reynolds. These men and women were chosen on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership. The Blue Key Sweetheart is considered the most outstanding woman of the Junior class.

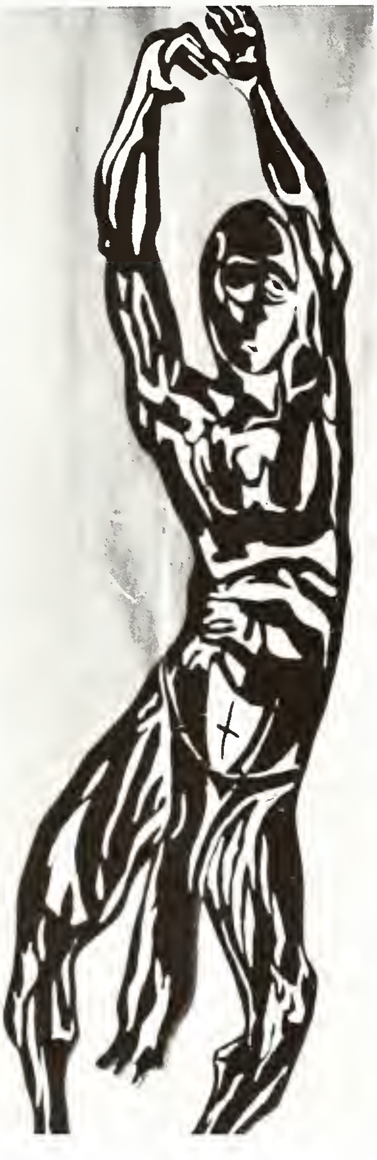
Doren Yount, Mirror editor, is tapped for membership into Blue Key.

For his outstanding help with students, Dr. Elliot is tapped as an honorary member of Blue Key.

Freshman Ball

Uniqueness was the word at the annual Freshman Ball, "Ebony." Students danced in a setting of weird, black and white shields. All was hushed as the coronation ceremony began with a modern interpretive dance done to the drum beats of primitive music. To the delight of the crowd, Gene Gates and Rosemary Behn were crowned king and queen.

A radiant queen . . . an attentive king.



Enlarged blood vessels?

It looks as if everyone enjoyed this evening of dancing.

Independents Registration

Everyone was kept busy with registration.

An extremely large group responded to Fred Cuckow's call for all independents to register.

Young Dems Assembly

Randy Simmons welcomes the special speakers as part of the Young Democrats yearly program.

Senator Kefauver was well received during his stay.

Greek Follies

Way Back When was the theme of this year's Greek Follies variety show as five sororities and four fraternities presented skits of all types. With each skit, the audience was taken back in years to remember or recall special events. This year the winning fraternity skit went to Acacia and "This Was Your Strife." The Sigma Kappas pulled first place for the second time in a row with "Gore Lore." The second-place honors were taken by Sigma Sigma Sigma and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

"This Was Your Strife" sponsored by Kaufman's Kozy Kasket won Acacia first place in fraternity division.

Devils, Spirits and what have you in "Gore Lore" won Sig Kaps first place.

"NEA—The First School" of caveman days won TKE second place.

Gymnastics

The Colorado State College gymnastics team wos in true form again this year. Coach Tony Rossi has lead the C-Staters through a very commendable season. As the season nears its close, they should be complimented on a very fine season.

To the Nationals we will go.

Swimming

Coach Bud Best, who made his debut as head swimming coach at Colorado State College this season, turned up with another CSC championship bunch of fine men. The Bears won the Rocky Mountain conference championship meet by defeating Colorado Mines, 109-45. They lost only three meets during the year being beaten by Wyoming University, 53-33, by Denver University, 52-34 and by the U. S. Air Force Academy, 59-27. The Bears opened their season by finishing fourth in the Wyoming relays at Laramie. The season's victories for the Bears were:

CSC 44	Colo. University 42
CSC 58	Colo. St. University 28
CSC 57	Fort Hays 29
CSC 43	Kansas State 42
CSC 59	Colo. Mines 27

Basketball

The Colorado State College Basketball team under the direction of Coach John Bunn had a good season this year. They played a good caliber of basketball throughout the season. Under the capable leadership of Coach Bunn the C-Staters finished second in the Rocky Mountain Conference this season with Idaho State taking first.

Hays Picnic

The sun was out and the atmosphere was gay as one of the last activities of the year followed Insignia Day. Among the antics for those attending the festivities, were pie eating, egg throwing, other games of chance, and the traditional Hays Picnic after which everyone was tired but happy.

The Tower of Babel

Naw, I've heard that!

Junior Prom

The Junior Class held their annual spring prom May 3. Frankie Masters' band provided music for the evening. The theme was carried out as Wisteria Gardens, a Japanese tea garden. For the first time in many years the gym was decorated with a false ceiling of pink and white streamers. A large wisteria tree was standing in the center of the room before the queen was crowned during intermission. Seth Stevens, president, crowned Jeannie Coleman queen. She was attended by Betty Schimpf, Lois Puzon, Pat Krey, Marilyn Mohr, and Bobbie Burns.

Queen Jeannie Coleman is congratulated by Seth Stevens.

This dance is one of the high lights of Spring Quarter.

Serene Lei Queen, Dale Miura, watches the festivities performed in her honor

Lei Dance

Leis, orchids, and the balmy atmosphere of the Hawaiian Islands were brought to the C.S.C. campus in the form of the exotic Lei Dance. Chosen to be queen of this night of nights was Dale Miura. Sponsored annually in the spring by the Hawaiian Club, it is the last major dance of the year.

Shown in attendance to their queen, are the lovely princesses

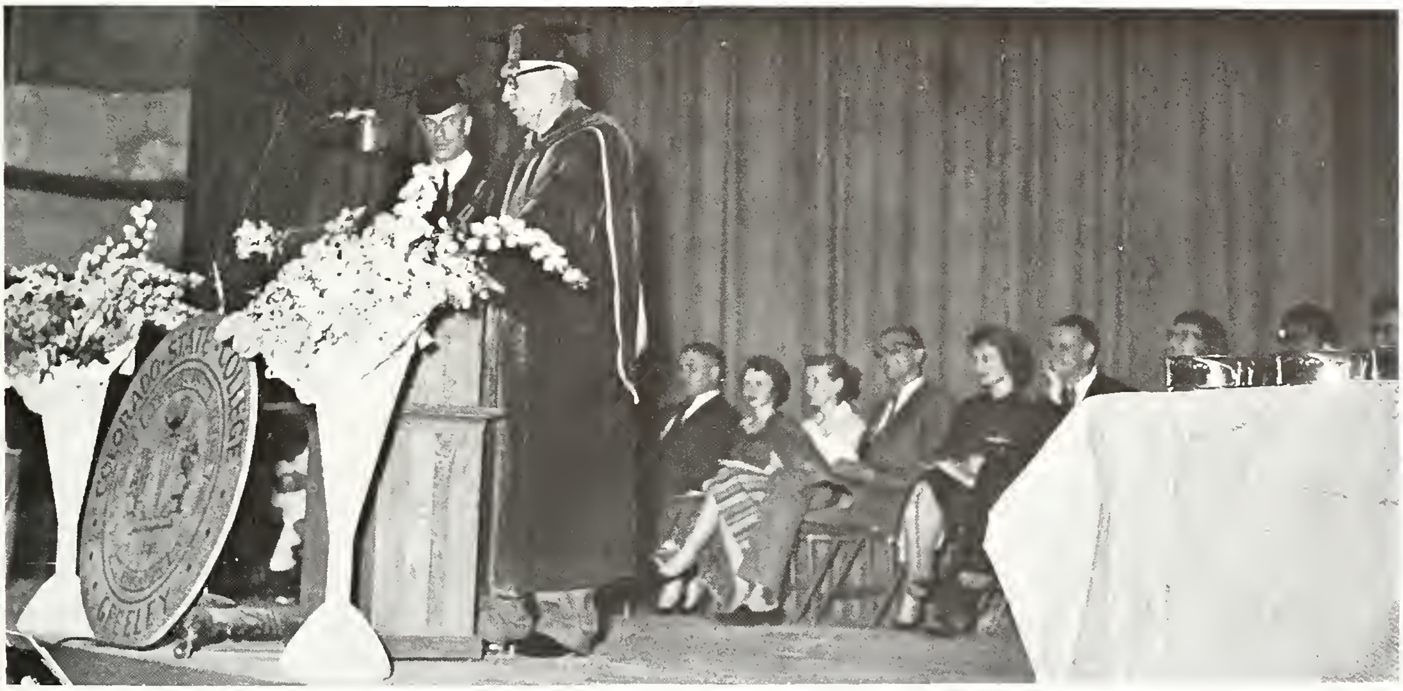
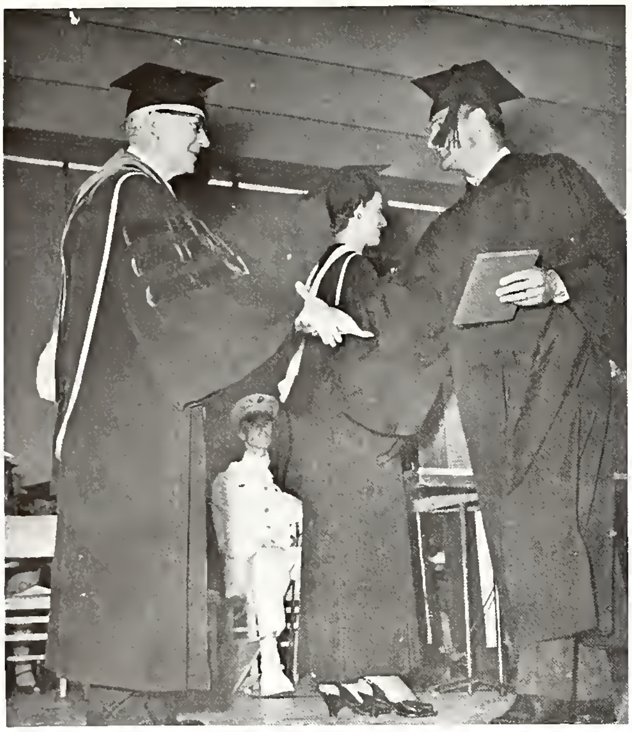
Insignia Day

Insignia Day recognizes C.S.C.'s most outstanding students. After an impressive procession of seniors, preceded by the faculty in their colorful hoods, the crowd applauded the presentation of awards. Gold Key awards, inauguration of our new Student Body President, and the presentation of the first annual to Miss Cache La Poudre were highlights of an exciting day.



At the flowered podium, speakers commence Insignia Day, one of the big events during Spring Quarter



Dr. Ross congratulates with a handshake, one of the many proud seniors who have just received their diplomas

Receiving his commission and graduating, this new officer notes a big moment in his life

Graduation

Toward the end of Spring Quarter, the Seniors can be recognized by their dazed "I can't believe we're through" look. On the Big Day, clad in flat caps and black gowns, they march up a brief flight of steps for the diploma which symbolizes four long years of cramming for exams, shooting the breeze in Bru, Bearslides, football games, and standing in line for registration.

A traditional scene, seniors march through our lovely campus together for the last time

Track

The Colorado State College Track Team had a good year in 1958. Coach Hancock lead his cindermen to a second place berth in the Rocky Mountain Conference Track Meet. Idaho State won the RMC meet but the CSC Mile Relay team ruined their spoils by nosing them out in the Mile Relay. Time for the winning Colorado State Team was 3:26.6.

Baseball

The 1958 baseball season proved to be another good season for the Colorado State Bears. They won the Rocky Mountain Conference Baseball Championship for the 16th straight year. Then they entered the District No. 7 NCAA playoffs for an unprecedented 11th time and through a forfeiture of BYU gained entrance to the National Collegiate Baseball playoffs for the eighth time in the history of CSC. The Bears have been to the National Collegiate playoffs more than any other team in the nation.

Under the capable direction of Dr. L. C. Butler the baseball-conscious Bears have become one of the best college teams in the nation.

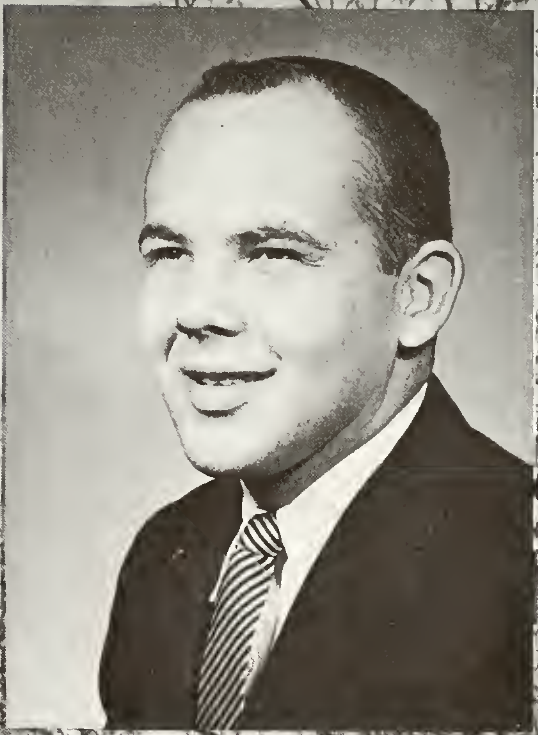
IN MEMORIAM



Those who knew Craig Callen remember him as one who enjoyed a full life in every way. As an active brother in Sigma Phi Epsilon; general chairman of the Greek songfest; IFC council member and a participant in many committees and intramural sports. Craig became well known on the CSC campus. He transferred here from Nebraska University as a Sophomore and was completing his major here in social studies.

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity here pays tribute to Craig, who died in a car accident during fall quarter. Though greatly missed, Craig's own philosophy "man's life is measured by deeds, not years," makes us realize that greatness that was his.

Yet, not with sorrow do we recall this friendship, nor even regret. Knowing Craig had served us not only in life but even in this last act on earth he continued to teach us another of life's lessons. We give thanks and remember him with the sacred epithet of "Brother."
